TO WOULD-BE CRITICS

The editor of this book fully realizes that it has many imperfections, for it is human to err. And especially does the weakness of the human flesh show itself in the performance of a difficult task - and the making of an annual is a difficult task. So the editor would like to call the attention of all would-be critics to the following lines taken from Pope's "Essay on Criticism":

"But you who seek to give and merit fame,
And justly bear a critic's noble name,
Be sure yourself and your own reach to know,
How far your genius, taste and learning go;
Launch not beyond your depth, but be discreet,
And mark that point where sense and dullness meet."

Presbyterian College

Dum Vivimus Servimus

Presbyterian College, founded by William Plumber Jacobs in 1880, has delivered nothing but the finest in liberal arts education to its students over the years. Rich in tradition and history, the academics at Presbyterian College are both challenging and entertaining.

"While we live, we serve" is Presbyterian College's motto, and the belief that one should give back to their community is ever-present here in Clinton, South Carolina. This year marks the 30th anniversary of Student Volunteer Services, the largest service organization on campus. Greeks, as well, offer much of their time and funds to helping their philanthropies, both in the community and around the country.

Presbyterian College offers a lot of choices to any one of its students. The opportunity to study abroad, attend lectures and performances by internationally acclaimed people and groups, and go skiing or skydiving are just a few of the many facets Presbyterian College has to offer.

To be an educated, well-rounded person is not a difficult task for those who attend Presbyterian College. Its graduates are among those most sought out by companies and graduate schools not only here in South Carolina, but around the country and world.

So sit back and enjoy this look at "The Home of the Blue Hose." You think you know, but you have no idea...

Seniors

Beth Harrison, Jenny Webb, and Jaime Carter enjoy many senior privileges, including grilling out at the townhouses.

Marisa Tamaccio, Erin McBride, and Amanda Blackwell enjoy spending time together over a meal.

Class of 2001

As this year's seniors prepare to enter the "real world," no doubt many are looking forward to the end of late-night study sessions, research papers, and final exams. Four years of hard work have finally paid off, and many seniors are looking forward to a break before entering graduate school or the work force. The memories that have been made at PC will be cherished forever and will probably end up as stories for the grandkids in years to come. Whatever they choose to do, Presbyterian's graduates will no doubt leave a profound impact on the world, remembering our great motto, "While we live, we serve."

Did I Really Do That?

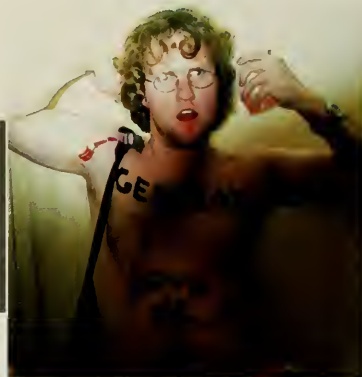

Ever walked into the wrong classroom and not realized it until the lecture has already begun? Ever dropped your tray in GDH and have the room fall silent and everyone stare? Ever fell asleep in class and wake up to an upset professor? How about falling down the stairs of Richardson, or worse yet falling up them?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, you are not alone. Not many people leave Presbyterian without participating in at least one event that they hope no one saw or about which no one spoke. After all it is a yearly ritual for people to be thrown into the fountain. Many Blue Hose experience embarrassing moments every day. Having these moments helps to build the bond that PC is so famous for. It is these embarrassing moments and the knowledge that we possess that makes us able to grin and bear even what we believe at the time is the worst moment of our life.

Startled by surprise,
Barbara Eves smiles.

This could be classified as one of Cam Warren's most embarrassing moments.

Sometimes it is great to just sit in front of the television and chill out.

Other times are perfect for a girls' night out!

G raduation?

As the weeks before graduation creep closer, one begins to ask himself or herself, "What am I going to do now?" Most people will answer, "Try to get a job" and others are planning to further their education by attending graduate schools. Some people will wonder if there is life outside of the PC bubble. No matter how tough it is going to be to pack up all of our personal belongings and say good-bye to all of our closest and dearest friends and our professors who have taught us all so much about ourselves, all good things must come to an end.

We will hold all of the memories we made here very close to our hearts for the rest of our lives. Some of us met the person with whom we are going to spend the rest of our lives with or met some friends that we are going to be in touch with forever. Try not to be sad or depressed, think of this experience as a new beginning to the rest of our lives.

Student Life

For students at Presbyterian College, life revolves around academics, service, and each other. Together students learn the meanings of independence and friendship and the value of a liberal arts education. Twenty years from now, PC alumni will be able to look back on their years at PC as some of the most exciting and challenging ones of their lives.

PC Student Life has more to offer than I ever imagined. I love this place!

--Ansley McRee

Friends clown for the camera in front of Godfrey House.

Mary Pat Adams and Thomas German tailgate on the Saturday of Homecoming.

Amy Cooper works afterhours in biology lab. A music and biology major. Amy exemplifies the liberal arts approach to education.

ersonal Space

Who understands living in a dorm until they actually do it? One room equals bedroom, kitchen, living room, and study, and two people must share this small space. It sounds miserable. However, dorm life is more than cramped living quarters. Dorm life is 3 a. m. study breaks at Waffle House, hall Christmas parties, and never having to go to Blockbuster again because someone on the hall always has a movie they are willing to lend a friend. Thanks to dorm life, students discover how to cram their lives into one room and then share their lives with all the other people at PC.

Thanks to Public Safety, the PC student body can sleep safe and sound in their dorm rooms!

PC students enjoy down time together.

What people do in the privacy of their dormrooms is often surprising!

Joe Carrero enjoys a break from GDH. One of the worst aspects of dorm life is doing without homecooking.

Drs. McCabe, Simpson, and Nurse get a glimpse into the lives of their students. Is that admiration or horror on their faces?

Jon Hickman writes his papers in the comfort of his dorm room. Computers in the dorms are often more convenient than a trip to the computer lab.

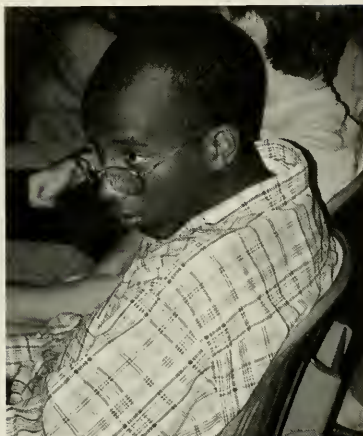

Some students were less than thrilled to have a camera show up at their door! Often students felt their rooms were too messy to be photographed.

PC's Georgian architecture embodies the classical ideas of learning.

At PC, paying close attention to detail pays off.

This young lady is ready and willing to learn! Three cheers for a college education!

Bo Redmond participates in

PC: A Class Act

This student investigates the wonders of biology with Dr. Zimmerman. All PC students are required to take a science lab; some students enjoy it more than others.

This art student concentrates on her oil painting.

Joe Carrero pets friendly with a stuffed penguin.

The Mahy and David Wagner are close friends as well as twins.

Friends enjoy playing football on the green.

These two students laugh together at fraternity court.

Together these students make the best of sleeping on a hardwood floor.

Finding a Friend

Finding friends is one of the best parts about coming to college. Students begin as bewildered freshmen, missing high school buddies and feeling lonely. However, by the time students graduate four years later, they have made friends that will last a lifetime.

Male bonding.

Ms. Tanisha Jenkins smiles proudly after being crowned Homecoming Queen.

During one of many exciting moments during the game, players collide in a swarming mass while attempting to get the ball.

Meg Mulkey, Sara McCue, and Zeta Lamberson pose for Kilt Day. Keep up the Scottish spirit!

Coach goes head to head with the referee during the game.

Students bond at the bonfire before the big game.

GO HOSE!! Students destroy the goalpost in a triumphant frenzy!

Number 12 struggles mightily to hold on to the ball. Great job, Blue hose!

Homecoming 2000

Let The Good Times Roll!

On the first Saturday of October, PC's Blue Hose defeated Carson Newman's Eagles. This glorious occasion was commemorated by the tearing down of the goalposts, which were carried across campus and displayed from the chimney of the PKA house. Spirits were high all week as the student body celebrated with the annual Miss Carson Newman Pageant, Kilt Day and a bonfire.

Hit him baby one more time: Ben Thomas presents a scary rendition of the Britney-Spears-look!

Curtis workin' it on the runway. . .

Sara Hopkins and Kim McKee are often out at the houses on a Friday night.

These students enjoy a night at fraternity court after a stressful week.

Like many other students, Sara Wells is willing to brave the cold out at the houses.

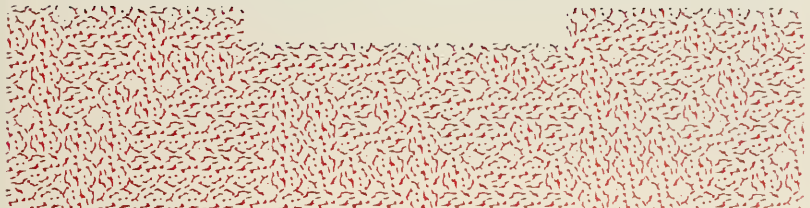

Where the action is:

Fraternity Court

Were it not for their creativity and unquenchable spirits, students at PC might actually get bored in Clinton, South Carolina. Luckily, the Blue Hose always know how to have fun, and the number one source of entertainment is fraternity court!

"I love Alpha Sig's Hawaiian party. I try to go every year!"

The World and PC meet in CIH

This year marked the opening of Carol International House. In CIH, international students and American students live together and learn about each other's unique cultures.

Last year, PC students who wished to live in CIH went through an application process that included an essay and an interview.

CIH residents participate in cultural activities from around the world. Often, they fix international meals in Carol's full-size kitchen. CIH is the only dorm with its own computer lab.

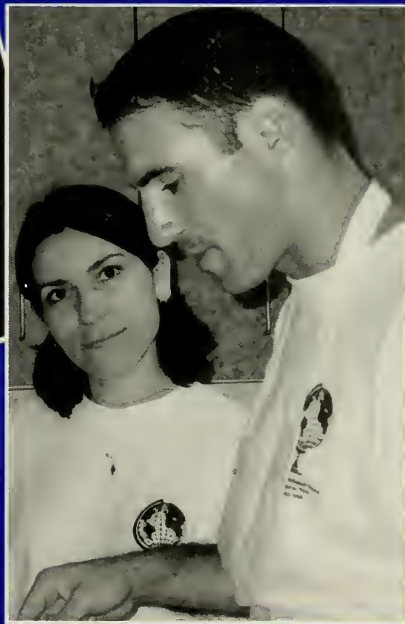

PC's international students enjoy CIH's atmosphere. Students in CIH are particularly interested in foreign cultures.

CIH residents prepare an international meal together.

Students good off in in CIH's spacious lobby.

Students take advantage of H-P's 24-hour computer lab.

Unlike the library and the cafeteria, H-P provides the students with a comfortable study environment at all hours.

Hitting the Books

Professors at PC advise their students to study two hours for every one hour spent in class. With most students taking 15 hour course loads, the average student studies 30 hours a week. So where does all this studying take place? Favorite study places include GDH at breakfast time, where students can cram in information and food, as well as Harrington-Peachtree, Thomason Library, and of course, Waffle House.

A Musical

Interlude:

This year PC alum Roddy Dinsmore returned to play for all of his friends still at PC. Students perform a mixture of rock, pop, and Contemporary Christian music.

Acoustic

Throughout the autumn students can take a break from their studies and enjoy live music at Springs. This event is called Accoustic Cafe, and it is held in Springs Campus Center. The Acoustic Cafe provides students with the opportunity to showcase their talents and appreciate the talents of others. In addition to the usual Springs food services, students are treated to tropical ices.

his student enthusiastically

Having Fun ...Not So Quietly

Presbyterian College students find ways to have fun and make some noise.

Goofing off and having fun: PC students know how to laugh!

The PC student body is a close knit community. Unlike some college campuses, all of PC's buildings are easily accessible.

The PC Experience is... PRICELESS!

Presbyterian College is unique environment. Because of its small town location, students feel safe on campus. As students walk to and from class, they greet peers and faculty members. PC's small size is a large part of its appeal for many students. Here they do not have to worry about being just a number.

Some students find they can sleep in an extra five minutes if they cycle to class.

Brie Beall and Tanith Forrester, members of PC's handbell choir, are hard at work.

The loyal Blue Hose come out to support the men's soccer team as they defeat Erskine 3 to 0.

It certainly looks like she's enjoying the food!

Students appreciate the food and service they receive at GDH. Give the ladies hugs to show you care!

Are you less than thrilled with your meal? Maybe you just need a trip to the dessert bar for some soft serve ice-cream.

Zeta Lamberson makes sure everyone catches something while "fishing."

The New and Improved GDH

Students returned this year to major changes at Greenville Dining Hall. Instead of just two choices, they now have five: Pizza, International, Homestyle, Deli, or Grille. Students appreciate the expanded selection, especially the new soft-serve ice cream machine! New decor such as trim and curtains adds excitement to the GDH experience. Despite all the changes, students can still rely on a delicious fried chicken lunch every Sunday and expect fun at GDH's holiday carnivals.

These ladies look confused. What's going on here... GDH is now fun?

At Springs Campus Center, students can check their mail, play pool or table tennis, and grab a quick bite to eat.

Just Hanging Out

College is a great time to spend making friends and spending time with them. This is probably the only time in one's life that their only responsibility is to keep their grades up and to have fun. I guess that is one reason why so many people choose to continue their education after their unforgettable undergraduate experience. Also, college is a great time to broaden horizons and meet people from all over the world who you might not have otherwise met. Presbyterian College has great opportunities to study abroad and has a big population of people who come to our campus to study.

Hanging out is the best part of college!

Great friendships which will last a lifetime are made at college.

Welcome to PC!!!

Upon arriving at Presbyterian College, most notable about the community are the warm welcomes and general excitement in the air. Upperclassmen love to show the Freshmen why they love PC, genuinely wishing the best of times to each incoming student. Who would have guessed that in such a short period of time lasting friendships would be made?

Ellyn Sanders

The Students

of Presbyterian College

Going to class in PC's newest academic building, Harrington-Peachtree.

Academics

Presbyterian College is well-known for its rigorous academic standards. Many students chose PC over other schools because of its fine academic reputation. What makes Presbyterian College stand out from the rest? The professors here continually demand only the best from their students, constantly challenging them to think and never promising any easy answers. However, the professors also always offer support and guidance when

The faculty is more than just instructors, however; they are also friends. Many students feel comfortable talking with their professors outside of a classroom setting about non-academic subjects. The relationships between professors and students help make stressful weeks easier to cope with, and also allow students to have a more meaningful academic experience.

Standing right in the middle of campus, Neville Hall represents PC's long tradition of liberal arts excellence.

Colorful banners are symbols of PC's pride in its community.

A Few of Our Favorite Things...

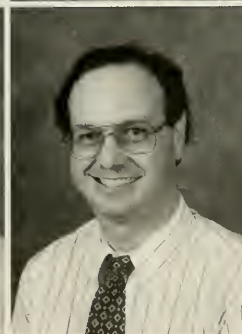

We each have our favorite aspects of Presbyterian College, those things that made us want to come here as freshmen and love the school as upperclassmen.

Our faculty and staff also have their favorite things about PC. Many professors believe the people to be what makes our school so special. They appreciate their colleagues, students, and the alumni here. Dr. Beasley feels that the students inspire him to be the best teacher he can be and Dr. Gustafson believes that the campus comes alive each fall when the students arrive.

Our teachers are devoted to Presbyterian College and the students shine through in their work and their relationships on and around the campus. It is evident that they, too are a few of our favorite things.

Encourage

"We should seize opportunity to give encouragement. Encouragement is oxygen to the soul."
-George M. Adams

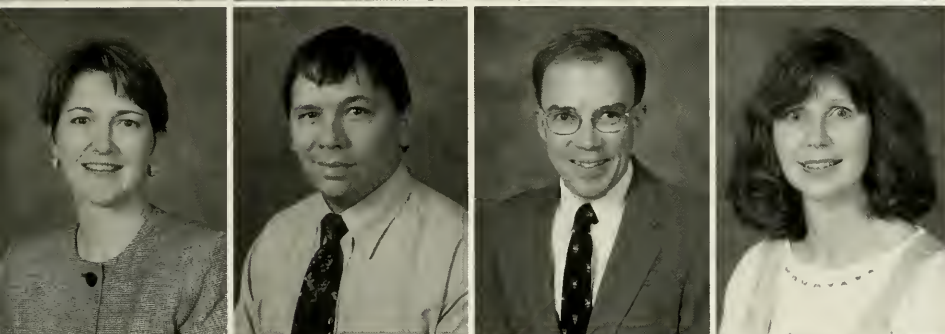

Inspiration...

PC works to inspire and prepare us for life outside of and after college. Along the way, we are touched by extraordinary people who influence us and affect us in positive and inspiring ways.

The very people who often inspire us today, our professors, have their own mentors. Dr. Shavo's high school calculus teacher, Mr. Wheeler, helped fuel her love for math and Dr. Beasley has always admired the famous mathematician Paul Erdos for his encouraging efforts to further mathematical research. In many cases, we are influenced and encouraged by family members. Dr. Gouge's grandfather taught him the true value of a loving, caring family and urged him to get an education. We are, as people, greatly indebted to those who help us pave our way in the world and our route to success.

Free Time?

We all seem to have some sort of hobby, whether it is playing sports or music, studying or sleeping. Many of our professors here at PC share our interests. Dr. McLeod enjoys reading and expresses her creativity through sewing and smocking. Coach Kovach also enjoys reading and loves to play catch. Dr. Bair spends much of her free time gardening and riding her John Deere tractor. She also loves working with stained glass and she likes to make doll clothes for her granddaughter's baby doll.

Some of our professors here at PC have extraordinary hobbies. Lt. Col. Trankovich loves flying helicopters and jumping from airplanes. Dr. Gustafon speaks Swedish and Dr. Friedrich's outrageous hobbies include riding camels and Latin, folk, and popular dancing. Dr. Hobbie tracks hurricanes and tropical storms, while Dr. Oleson has collected over one hundred twenty video tapes of Nebraska Cornhusker football games.

Our professors' spare time is filled with diverse and extraordinary hobbies.

Teach

"To teach is to learn twice"
- Joseph Joubert

Who Are the Teachers?

Everyday we learn something new. Each day we go to class and the professors fill our notebooks with lecture notes and challenge our minds with new information. It often seems that the students are always the ones being taught and the professors are always the ones teaching.

Here at PC, the teachers admit to learning from the students. Every semester, our classes change and we get different professors and we have to adjust to their teaching styles and personalities. In the same way, the professors must get to know their new students. Each new class brings fresh new lessons and knowledge to give and receive. Teaching is unique in that we are all each other's teachers. Dr. Bair believes that she would be lost without her students. The relationship between students and professors here at PC is one of equality and of openmindedness to accept and learn from one another.

It has been said, "there is no better way to learn than to spend a lifetime teaching others."

Excell

"Every job is a self-portrait of the person who does it. Auto-graph your work with excellence."

A Self-Portrait

Our teachers here at PC push us to do our very best. As freshmen, we enter college unsure of exactly what to expect. Many of us come with little expectations for our undecided futures. But as time passes, many uncertainties begin to fade away. With each class we take, we are one step closer to our future. Our professors help shape our goals and broaden our horizons with their encouragement and faith in our capabilities.

College is a time of growth and discovery. PC prepares us for a world we knew little about. Our professors help mold our futures and take pride in our achievements. Their behind-the-scenes work in their students is reflected in each student they teach.

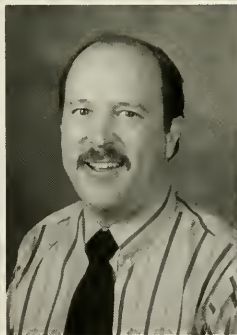

When we graduate from PC, they send us into the world with so much more enthusiasm, zest, and esteem for our lives. They give a bit of themselves to each student they meet.

Here's to 35 years of service...

Student Volunteer Services

In 1966, a single child outreach program at Todd Memorial Presbyterian Church in Laurens, South Carolina, was founded by Presbyterian College religion professor, Dr. Jack Presseau. Since then, his idea has grown into one of the largest student organizations at Presbyterian College- Student Volunteer Services. This year marks the 35th anniversary of this distinguished organization that is committed to reaching outside of the PC “bubble” in order to lend services to the communities surrounding Presbyterian College. It should be no wonder that Student Volunteer Services has made a lasting impression at Presbyterian College; after all, our motto is Dum Vivimus Servimus or “While we live, we serve.”

“Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has.” - Margaret Mead

"Love cannot remain by itself- it has no meaning. Love has to be put into action and that action is service." Mother Teresa Student Volunteer Services organizes twenty-one different programs. These include tutoring, child outreach, senior citizen outreach, scout troops, dance classes, big brothers and big sisters, among many more. This year, the organization held its 3rd Annual Day of Service, and it also held a reception at Homecoming in order to honor those alumni that were once involved in SVS. Other activities included helping with the Martin Luther King Day of Service, holding a Freshman Service Day during Freshman Orientation, and, in the tradition of many years, hosted the Special Olympics.

Greek Life

No ifs, ands, or buts: Greek life is an important aspect of Presbyterian College. The fraternities and sororities of PC do much to enhance life at the college and serve to uphold the motto "Dum vivimus servimus," which means "while we live, we serve." Greek organizations encourage their members to strive for their personal best, while being a part of a team. Service, fundraising, and fun are just a few facets of Greek life.

Many times, one does not even need to be a member of a Greek organization to take advantage of its presence at PC. Because of our school's small size, we are able to enjoy parties out at the fraternity houses where everyone is invited. There are very few "closed" parties; therefore, here at Presbyterian College, it is not a necessity to be Greek. Don't be surprised if those that are Greek tell you that it is well worth it, though.

Seniors Amanda Blackwell, Kim McKee, Erin McBride and Sara Hopkins are excited about finally being seniors but are sad to leave ADPi and PC behind.

Alpha Delta Pi

Alpha Delta Pi was the first sorority ever founded, thus claiming the title "The First and Finest". Formed at Wesleyan College in Macon Ga, in 1851 celebrated its 150th anniversary this year. ADPi stresses its four diamond points of scholarship, service, Christian Womanhood, and loyalty.

There is a strong sense of sisterhood in the Eta Xi chapter of Alpha Delta Pi and this year they welcomed 41 new girls during recruitment bringing the chapter total to more than 130 girls. Through pride activities, service projects, retreats and fundraisers, there is always a good time! Mixers and Formal Parties also bring the sisters together for a fun time. Harvest Party, Christmas Party, Blind Date, and Black Diamond are just a few of the exciting events planned for the sisters.

Alpha Delta Pi is also very active on campus. The sisters participate regularly in Homecoming events, SVS activities and Greek Week. Many of the sisters hold leadership positions in numerous campus activities. ADPi's philanthropy is The Ronald McDonald House and throughout the year there are various events to support the house in Greenville.

Kelley, Megan, Claire, and Katy are relaxing in some sisterhood bonding.

dogs. Some of the other service programs that Alpha Sig contributes time to are Special Olympics, Thornwell's Big Brother program, and the Christmas Parties at Thornwell.

Alpha Sigma Phi was founded at Yale University in 1845, and was established at PC on May 12, 1928. "To Better the Man," is Alpha Sig's motto, and the brothers strive to uphold that everyday.

Thrust.

On Presbyterian's campus, Delta Sigma Theta is involved in the March of Dimes, SUB's Spirit week for basketball, which they have won for the past two years, and the Lauren's County Soup Kitchen.

In years to come, it is the hopes of the ladies to have a chapter established on campus so that many other ladies will have the opportunity to be involved.

Kappa Alpha Order

The Kappa Alpha Order was established at Washington and Lee University in 1865 by William Nelson Scott, Stanhope McClellan Scott, James Ward Wood, and William Archibald Walsh. These four men were inspired by the life and teachings of Robert E. Lee, and tried to incorporate Lee's way of life into a fraternal organization in Kappa Alpha Order.

Beta Pi chapter of Kappa Alpha Order was established on January 18, 1924, which is also the birthday of Robert E. Lee. Beta Pi participates in many community service and philanthropic events including: The Muscular Dystrophy Association, Thornwell Children's Outreach program, Clinton Christian Academy and the Presbyterian Home.

Socially, members of Kappa Alpha Order participate in the annual Old South Ball, which is attended by every KA in the state of South Carolina. Mountain Weekend, Christmas Party, Halloween Party, and Convivium, which is a celebration of Robert E. Lee's birthday.

The KA's believe in duty, sincerity, honor, and have a special regard for ladies that Robert E. Lee held high.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Pi Kappa Alpha was founded on Sunday evening, March 1, 1868 at the University of Virginia. Mu Chapter was the first fraternity founded at Presbyterian College on December 9, 1890.

The brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha are involved in almost every aspect of campus life. Many of the brothers play on Varsity athletic teams such as Football and Soccer. Some of the brothers are RA's, ROTC cadets, SUB members, and intramural staff members just to name a few.

The Pikes give back to the community through roadside cleanups and service with SVS. The brothers also help support the Bob Walters Foundation, in memory of Bob Walters a Mu alumnus. This foundation helps in the fight against Lou Gehrig's disease.

The Pikes have plenty of social activities as well. Some of those events include Toga party, Christmas party, Hawaiian party, and the annual Fireman's Ball in Chimney Rock, NC.

The Pikes pride themselves on the brotherhood formed amongst its members. Each member carries the motto: "Once a Pike, Always a Pike" through life.

Enjoying some time together out at the House.

Pi Kappa Phi

Pi Kappa Phi has been blessed with success throughout the 2000-2001 academic year. Beginning the year with 13 new members, the fraternity sought a year of rebuilding socially as well as structurally. The official fraternity year saw the election of seven members for offices including Joseph Carrero as Archon, Wally Frye as Warden, Nick Haigler as Chaplain, Wes Banchard as Historian, and Seth Black as Secretary. Socially Pi Kapp led the year off with the Annual Beach Party, and completed the semester with their Christmas Party.

The second semester began with an entire gutting of the house. Brothers and pledges as well as some faithful ladies brought the house to its full potential. The social events continued with Biker's Ball and, finally, Rose Ball in Chareleston to end the year.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

The Epsilon Pi chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma is very proud of its sisterhood. The sisters make the sorority a high priority in their daily lives, a trait which is found in Sigma's across the country. We strive to maintain the values of faith, hope, and love in everything the sisters do. Our chapter is very involved in campus life in such organizations as SGA, RHA, SVS, and Freshamn orientation.

Theta Chi

Over the past years, the Beta Psi chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity has grown into a diverse group of men striving to extend a helping hand to all who seek it. The adopted philanthropy of their chapter is the Laurens County Safe Home. Along with the philanthropy the Theta Chi's are involved in numerous other service projects such as Adopt-A-Highway, SVS, Special olympics, and the YMCA. We have members who are on SGA, SUB, Judicial Council, peer connectors and Stirlings. Every brother in Theta Chi works daily to live out the creed that is adopted by the Fraternity.

Over the past 58 years many men have run down the steps of Neville Hall to join the strong brotherhood of Theta Chi Fraternity. A few of the parties hosted by the brothers are Dukes of Hazzard, Sword and Serpent, Christmas Party, Party in your Mouth, and many DJ events. Over the past few years, The Theta Chi's have been rewarded with numerous awards. A few of these awards are the Educational Programming Award, Faculty Advisor of the Year, and Fraternity Man of the Year. The brothers who make up this chapter truly strive to uphold the motto of Presbyterian College, "While we Live we Serve."

Bid Day is always an exciting time for the sisterhood!

Zeta Tau Alpha

The sisterhood of Zeta Tau Alpha began back in 1898 at Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia. Since then, the tradition of excellence has continued with the Zetas here at Presbyterian College.

The Zeta's are proud of their diversity and involvement on campus. Sisters are involved in various campus organizations such as SGA, SUB, FCA, athletic teams, and SVS. It is this involvement, along with excellent programming, service, and fundraising, that earned the Kappa Beta chapter here at PC the first runner up to the Merit Award at the 2000 National Conference in Palm Springs, California.

Zeta Tau Alpha's philanthropy is the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation. Each year the sisters travel to Greenville, SC and participate in the Race For the Cure to support their philanthropy, which personally touches so many each day.

Despite the Zeta's great diversity and uniqueness, they are all bound together by a strong sisterhood. Working together in service and recruitment the Zeta's have built friendships that will last long after their PC career.

After another grueling, yet quite exciting battle against their opponents; the both exhausted and thrilled Presbyterian College football team exits the field satisfied with their win.

Making sure that every play is detailed to perfection in order to secure the victory, the coaches review a few points with players during a quick timeout.

Justin Darnell holds on tightly to the ball, making sure not to lose possession as he moves his way towards the goal line.

During this year's homecoming game against one of P.C.'s greatest rivals, Carson-Newman, Ryan Bowders stops his opponent, making sure he realizes just whose field the game is being played on.

Moving Down The Field

Early in the season, the Presbyterian College Blue Hose Football team proved it was going to be an all around winning season. The first home game, which was Scotsman Club Day, was a big win for P.C. against Charleston Southern University. This was the start of an exciting season, not only for the team, but also for the Presbyterian College student body. The Blue Hose continued to work hard throughout the entire season. Their homecoming victory against our big rival, Carson-Newman College was an monumental game for Presbyterian College. This year's Bronze Derby Classic was quite a success when P.C. defeated Newberry College 34 to 27. Overall the Blue Hose had a successful season with an ending record of 8 and 2. Not to mention that they finished the season with a record of 6 and 1 in the South Atlantic Conference. The Blue Hose are looking forward to another exciting and successful season next year. Congratulations on a winning season!

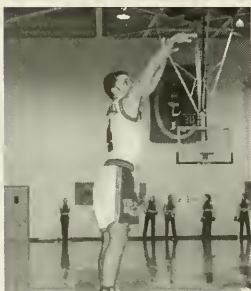

After a well deserved homecoming win against Carson Newman, the student body pranced around campus displaying the goal posts.

D.J. Humphries, who was a valuable asset to the men's basketball team, attempts to shoot over an opponent; while his teammate, Jeff Whittle prepares to get a rebound.

Shooting For The Basket

The 2000-2001 Blue Hose Men's Basketball team had a very successful season. Although faced with both a difficult and demanding schedule, the team worked extremely hard in order to finish with an overall record of 19 and 10. They also had a very impressive record in the Southern Atlantic Coast, of 10 and 4. They finished 2 and 1 in the Southern Atlantic Coast tournament, unfortunately losing to Catawaba in the finals. Although they will be losing two outstanding seniors, Kevin Cambell and D.J. Humphries, the remaining players are young, which leaves much room for growth as a team both on the court and off of it. The players and also their coaches, Gregg Nibert and Ronny Fisher, are excited about a great season next year.

Kevin Campbell, a graduating senior, shoots one of his last jumpshots as a Presbyterian College basketball player.

Number 33, Rod Isom, makes to sure to keep his opponent, a player from Newberry College, covered at all times. He definitely did a good job sticking with his man throughout the game, and his hard work paid off with a 78 to 62 win over Newberry.

Preparing themselves for a game, the Lady Blue Hose get loosened up with a quick warm up on the court. The team had a very successful year, ending the season with a 22 and 8 record.

Nicole Chittman outjumps two opponents from Tusculum College and puts the ball in the basket. Nicole helped contribute to a great game, which the Lady Blue Hose won 92-53.

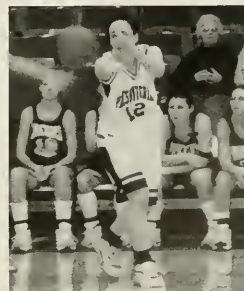

Senior Tracy Woody contributes a basket during one of her last home games at Presbyterian College. Tracy, will be greatly missed next year.

Rachel Sloan takes her time and gathers concentration as she prepares to shoot a free throw. Rachel, who is a senior, has been a great aspect to the women's basketball program and will be greatly missed.

Dribble It... Pass It... We Want A Basket

The Lady Blue Hose Basketball Team finished the season with an overall record of 22 and 8. They had a final record of 11 and 3 in the Southern Atlantic Coast division. The Lady Blue Hose started off the season with a trip to Disney World to play in the Disney Classic Tournament. Throughout the season, the team played in many other tournaments. The team had a big win over Wingate University, which was the Floor Dedication Night. Wingate was seated number 3 in the Southern Atlantic Coast tournament. Wins over rival teams such as; Carson-Newman, Mars Hill, and Newberry College, were all very exciting for both the team and the school. Led by coaches Beth Couture and Leigh Irwin, the girls had a great season and are very much looking forward to a repeat next year. They will greatly miss the two seniors, Rachel Sloan and Beth Woody, who will be graduating. Congratulations Lady Blue Hose and best of luck in the future.

After dribbling down court, guard Katie Davis passes the ball to one of her teammates.

Brian James sprints as he crosses the finish line after running a race on his home course.

Racing To The Finish Line

The 2000-2001 Blue Hose Men's Cross Country team had a successful season. They finished the season second in the conference to Mars Hill at the Southern Atlantic Coast Championships. The men's team placed first in both the Erskine College Meet and the Lenior-Rhyne College Meet. The team will be losing three valuable runners to graduation; Zach Braden, Brian James, and Jonathon Todd. Although this will be a great loss to the team, there is a great amount of potential remaining. Of the remaining eight runners, there is only one junior, three are sophmores, and four are freshman. Although this a young team, they are looking forward with anticipation of an outstanding season next year.

Jonathon Todd crosses the finish line with an extremely tired, yet satisfied body.

Freshman runner, Drew English is determined to stay ahead as he works to move farther away from his opponents. Drew was a great new asset to the team.

After finishing first in the Lander Invitational, the women's cross country team recieved a trophy in honor of their run.

Leader Of The Pack

Although a small team with only six runners, the 2000-2001 Presbyterian College Women's Cross Country team had an outstanding season. Starting the season off by finishing first place at the Lander Inivitational, the girls continued on track finishing first in three more meets. A highlight of the season was finishing first at our own Presbyterian College Inivitational. Although the team will be losing two wonderful runners, Heather Sherer and Alison Outz, they are nevertheless looking forward to another outstanding season next year. They have four young runners remaining and much interest from other students about running. Good luck next year in a season as worthwhile, if not more, as this year's season.

Grace Mitchell, a new addition to the team, is glad to be finished with a long race on a hot day.

Number 20, Brian Prahl, watches anxiously as the other team's pitcher prepares himself. Brian must be ready for any opportunities to steal a base.

Covering The Bases

The 2000-2001 baseball season proved to be an outstanding one for the Presbyterian College Blue Hose. The baseball players began early in the season with an invitational tournament in Florida. They returned to Clinton only to begin a long season. With big wins over schools such as Limestone College, Erskine College, Carson-Newman College, and Newberry College; the team had an exciting season. They later returned to Florida to play in a second invitational tournament, in which they beat Florida Southern College, the number twenty-eighth team. Although they will be losing four key players; Bryan Betsill, Kevin Felts, Geno Gosnell, and Mike Noble, the team is counting on its younger players to step up the plate and take over. The boys and their coaches, Doug Kovash, Jeremy Farber, and Chance Reynolds, are all looking forward to an exciting season next year.

Pitcher Perfect

The 2000-2001 season was a great one for the Blue Hose Softball team. Finishing the season with a 23 and 19 record is a great accomplishment for these ladies. The team started out the season playing in tournaments: Winthrop Tournament, Furman University Tournament, and their own Blue Hose Invitational Tournament. After getting into the swing of things, the girls began playing in their regular season games. They traveled twice to Georgia for tournaments later in the season and even went to Florida for the West Florida Tournament. The team finished the season with a South Atlantic Coast record of 4 and 4. The team will be losing four seniors this year; Jamie Carter, Sonya McNeil, Christi Smith, and Ross Stewart. Although they will be greatly missed, the team, along with Coach Lisa Pearce, Coach Buster Sturkie, and Coach Laurie Shepard, are all looking forward to a successful season next year.

Jessica Trimnell practices her swing while waiting to step up to the plate.

After winning a point, the team celebrates for a short second while getting positioned for the next play.

Aiming Over The Net

After returning from the St. Leo Showdown with a tournament record of 3 and 1, the Presbyterian College Volleyball team jumped into regular season. Already on a winning track, the team returned to Clinton to beat two of its biggest rivals, Newberry College and Carson Newman College. The Lady Blue Hose continued their winning streak the entire season, finishing with a record of 21 and 12. Their Southern Atlantic Coast record was 10 and 4 and they finished 2 and 1 in the Southern Atlantic Coast tournament, losing their only game in the final round. Along with their coaches Lisa Bugay and Matthew Shuford, the volleyball team is anticipating a great season next year. Rachel Bishop, who will be graduating, is a key part of the team and will be greatly missed. Good luck girls on the upcoming season.

While waiting for their game to begin, the volleyball players warm up.

Kim Counts jumps in front of and above her opponent in order to ensure that she gets the ball.

Bethany Cole, a senior, jumps up to meet the ball in mid-air with her head. Bethany is an important part of the women's soccer team and she will be greatly missed next year.

An unguarded Courtney Swanson takes advantage of the open field around her and sets up to pass the play to a teammate downfield.

Let's Kick It

A final record of 13 and 5 and 1 is a great sign of a very successful season. The 2000-2001 Lady Blue Hose Soccer Team had a wonderful year. Their final Southern Atlantic Coast record was 5 and 1 and 1. They also finished the Southern Atlantic Coast tournament 2 and 1. It was here that they lost in the final game to Tusculum. The team began the season off playing Erskine and beating them 3 to 0. They continued their winning streak and even beat Tusculum in a tough game. Although next year they will lose five seniors: Jamie Harris, Ashley Davie, Bethany Cole, Katie Kelly, and Courtney Swanson, the seven new freshmen from this season have already done a extraordinary job stepping out onto the field. All of the remaining team and Coach Brian Purcell will dearly miss the seniors, who played a key part on the team; however, they are still excited about the upcoming season.

Organizations

What do you wish to do while at Presbyterian College? If you want to get involved in politics, worship God, or do just about anything else, you've come to the right place. If we ain't got it, you don't need it... that is, unless you want to start a new organization. It's that easy! From service to enlightenment, here is just a sampling of the many activities you may witness as a PC student.

Student Government Association: Quietly Making Decisions

The Student Government Association is definitely visible on campus, and it consists of over thirty members that are elected by the students to lead ongoing projects and programs throughout the year. Under the leadership of President Tanisha Jenkins SGA has made many campus improvements. The improvements include lights around the fountain, a 24 hour computer lab in Harrington-Peachtree, and

"SGA is truly the voice of the students. This year we have accomplished so much because of student support! We can move mountains"
Mitchell Spearman

newspapers and televisions in both Springs and the Greenville Dining Hall.

They also planned a great Freshman Orientation in August. Also, this year SGA will undertake two service projects to compliment PC's motto "Dum Vivimus Servimus". Finally, SGA meets every Monday night to discuss important decisions and concerns that may affect all students.

Student Government Association Secretary Mitchell Spearman takes a break from a meeting and a busy day to celebrate his birthday!

Sophomores Louise Unit and Sara Maragaret are very excited to welcome the new freshman to PC during Freshman Orientation Week.

Student Government Association members meet weekly under the leadership of Tanisha Jenkins to discuss important campus issues and concerns.

SGA Senate

Senior Paul Freeman prepares his proposal to present to the members of the Senate.

Discussing the budget of the Senate before a meeting.

This year the Student Government Association decided that each organization on campus needs to be involved in making decisions that impact the student body at Presbyterian College. The Senate includes a representative from over 35 organizations to discuss issues and concerns in the PC community. The Senate helps to delegate how the budget is spent, and it has also helped to create recycling bins in buildings on campus. The Senate is under leadership of Mitchell Spearman and Liz Woods, and the Senate meets every two weeks to discuss important matters on campus. Hopefully the Senate will continue to be a success in future years and will help to make changes to PC's campus.

Junior Caroline Crawley and Senior Jenny Webb are active leaders on campus, and they are waiting to discuss campus issues.

Members of the SGA Senate meet twice a month to vote on proposals, and they are under the leadership of Liz Woods.

Student Union Board: Quietly Creating Fun Activities

Ever been bored on a Friday afternoon or on a beautiful Spring Day? Well, with activities planned and sponsored by Presbyterian College's Student Union Board there is always a fun and exciting activity students can be involved in to socialize with others and relieve the stress of class and studying. SUB plans activities during Homecoming and Spring Fling, as well as activities throughout the entire year. This year, SUB provided a ski trip and

"SUB has given students opportunities to have fun and participate in several unique activities without leaving the campus of Presbyterian College." Elizabeth McCuen even several hiking trips. Also, those movies that play in Whitelaw on Friday nights and every night on the PC channel are sponsored by SUB. During Spring Fling this year, SUB provided students with the Pat McGee Band, shag lessons, a drive-in movie, and a fundraiser in which a professor has to kiss a llama. SUB is under the leadership of Senior Zeta Lamberson, and she has several committies that work under her to provide exciting activities to students.

Student Union Board Leaders Zeta Lamberson and Sara McCue announce the winners of the annual BlueSox plays during Homecoming Week.

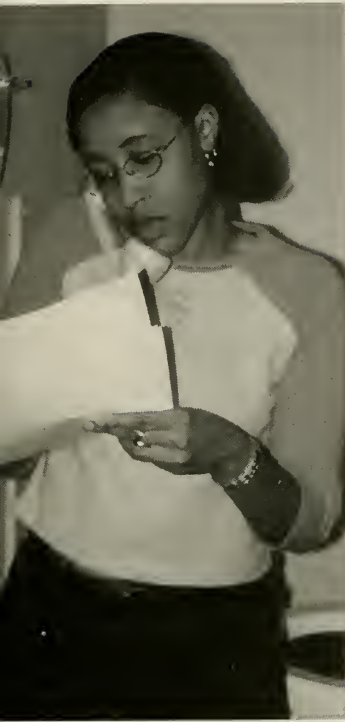

Senior Beth Cooke enjoys dancing and grooving to the music sponsored by the Student Union Board.

Anna Folks, Zeta Lamberson, and David Kinman relax after a fun and exciting spirit competition at the bonfire to encourage the football players to beat rival Carson Newman.

Multicultural Student Union

Multicultural Student Union President Rachel Sloan takes care of business before meeting with MSU's members.

Students await entering MSU's Haunted House. The Haunted House is a food drive and fundraiser sponsored by MSU.

The goal of the Multicultural Student Union is to serve the multicultural student through a diverse offering of education, spiritual, social, and recreational activities. Also, it promotes the celebration of diversity on campus and facilitates the connection on campus and the surrounding communities. MSU received the Organization of the Year Award last year, and is under the leadership of Rachel Sloan. MSU provides many activities for students that include the Haunted House, a black history month program, a formal, church visits, and a step show. Some of MSU's goals are to increase membership to over 50 people, and build connections with other organizations on campus.

Multicultural Student Union members enjoy socializing with one another and preparing for the Haunted House event.

As a social event, MSU members travel to the skating rink for fun and for a break from studying.

Residence Hall Association

Do you like to relax and watch TV in your room? What do you think about the Visitor's Policy? Do you like the new improvements in Belk, Clinton, and Georgia Dorms? What is PC going to do with the increased student enrollment and their housing arrangements? The Residence Hall Association works extremely closely with Dean Nixon and President Griffith to provide the best living situations possible for students and attempts to meet the needs of all students. This year, RHA had to develop a plan to accommodate for an increased enrollment of female students and had to make accommodations to put these students in the former Panhellenic House as well as the Infirmary. Also, RHA has decided that Barron and Grotnes Dorms will be COED next year to accommodate for housing arrangements. RHA also plans several programs throughout the year, such as a program on date rape and eating disorders. They also plan the annual faculty student sleepover, in which professors can get a real taste of dorm life! This year, RHA was under the leadership of Senior Glennis Webb as president and Mike Rosolino as faculty advisor, and the organization represents the entire campus community with over 30 members.

Juniors Macaulay Lever and Mary Gray Mahon are roommates, and have greatly enjoyed their time spent in Clinton Dorm.

Claire Dunaway and Bo Redmond enjoy dorm life as they hang out in Clinton Dorm and spend time with each other.

Members of the Senior class have greatly enjoyed living in the townhouses. They have enjoyed studying, preparing meals, and having fun together.

Quietly Upholding Honor: Judicial Council

Do you remember one of your first days of Presbyterian College, during Freshman Orientation Week, and walking into a dark room to sign the Honor Code? Have you ever wondered who determines whether a student is in violation of the Honor Code or the Code of Conduct? Well, the members of the Judicial Council find extreme importance in upholding the Presbyterian College Honor Code. They take the Honor Code very seriously, and they are the ones who decide whether their fellow classmates may be in violation of the Honor Code. The members of the Judicial Council meet as a jury and have to make extremely importance decisions on the consequences of student behavior. The members are sworn to secrecy and take the Honor Code and their role of determining consequences very seriously.

President of the Judicial Council Luke Ellis relaxes after a meeting discussing changes needed for the Honor Code.

Senior Luke Ellis is the President of the Judicial Council. His eyes are watching your actions to make sure you do not violate the Honor Code.

Panhellenic & IFC

The two main governing bodies of Greek Life are the Panhellenic Council for sororities and the Interfraternity Council for Fraternities. The two governing bodies work together to benefit and improve Greek Life on the campus of Presbyterian College. The Panhellenic Council is under the leadership of Senior Lillian Franzi and the IFC is under leadership of Senior David Roe.

The Panhellenic Council sponsors many events throughout the year that include the Clothesline Project supporting victims of abuse, participate in Faculty Appreciation Week demonstrating support of PC's professors, and Greek Unity events which include activities for all sorority members. Also, Panhellenic is very important in making sorority rush successful and fair. The council is in the process of determining the benefits of a possible fourth sorority on campus.

The Interfraternity Council includes members of each fraternity that is represented on the campus of Presbyterian College. They meet to discuss ways to improve social functions at the fraternity houses, as well as discuss the safety of those who venture out to fraternity court on the weekends. Many new policies, such as guest lists, are in the process of being implemented. Also, IFC helps to coordinate the activities of Greek Week.

The new members of Pike ran down the stairs to the brothers of the fraternity.

ADPi, Zeta, and Sigma members anxiously await the decision of freshman girls and who their new sisters are going to be.

Alpha Delta Pi members greet their new sister Elizabeth Patrick with excitement and are very eager to spend time with the new Alpha members.

Quietly Honoring Greek Scholars: Order of Omega

The primary purpose and goal of Order of Omega is to honor outstanding Greek Scholars who have shown excellence in the classroom and who have also shown leadership and service in his fraternity or her sorority. Order of Omega includes over twenty Greek members. Order of Omega is under the leadership of Donny Thoreson as President, T.J. Ackerly as Vice-President of Membership, Zac Braden as Vice President of the Banquet, and Erin McBride as treasurer. The faculty advisor is professor George Dupoy. T.J. Ackerly states "It is important to recognize those Greeks who have excelled in the classroom as well as in their Greek organization." Last year the Fraternity Man of the Year was Jay Philpot and the Sorority Woman of the Year was Sarah Brailsford.

Sorority and Fraternity members listen to a KA Alumni speak of his PC memories at the Greek Awards banquet.

This year, Donny Thoreson was nominated Fraternity Man of the Year, and Erin McBride was nominated Sorority Woman of the Year.

Celtic Cross: Quietly Nurturing Church Leaders

The purpose of Celtic Cross is to provide students of the Presbyterian Church USA the opportunity to explore the meaning of vocation and call as Christians engaged in the their journey of faith, recognizing the importance of both lay and professional ministry. Celtic Cross was founded in 1995 at PC, and consists of thirty-seven members. Dr. Bob Smith and Dr. Perer Hobbie are the faculty advisors, and Beth Cooke and Allan Buice are the student co-interns. Celtic Cross provides students with the opportunity to attend workshops and retreats that help to develop thier faith with God. It also helps students to understand that they each possess a special gift from God for reason.

"Celtic Cross has given me a variety of ways to explore my different leadership abilities within the church and community and develop lifelong friends" Devon Beisser

Beth Cooke and Ashley Rogillio relax and enjoy each others' company at a Celtic Cross retreat.

Michael York, Jennifer Glenn, and Rachel Parsons joke around during free time at a Celtic Cross meeting.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

Senior Roger Harrison interviews FCA representative Ben Stillar in the Mrs. Carson Newman Pagent held during Spirit Week.

Senior Melissa Hydrick and Sophomore Melissa Clemens enjoy FCA's game of Cops and Robbers on a sunny afternoon on PC's campus.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes' purpose is to encourage, serve, and spread God's love to all the athletes at Presbyterain College and to whom they influence. FCA was founded in the early 1970s, and includes over fifty members. David Schoolfield and Walter Howard are the presidents, and Jeff Wilson is the faculty advisor. Throughout the year, FCA provides concerts, service and evangelism to the college and community. David Schoolfield states "FCA allows you to worship God and have fellowship with other Christians. It is designed to strengthen your walk with God, wherever you may be." FCA meets weekly, and helps students develop and strengthen their faith.

FCA Members gather together to take a picture on FCA's annual fall retreat for fun and fellowship.

Kate Reifsnieder anxiously awaits the arrival of Senator John McCain. The political science club sponsored a trip to the GSP airport to welcome Senator McCain last year.

Political Science Club: Quietly Spreading Political Awareness

Are you interested in political events or discussing political phenomena? Join the Political Science Club under the leadership of senior Heather Combs and faculty advisor Chris Grant. This year, is the first year that the Political Science Club is active on the campus of Presbyterian College. The Political Science Club is a member of the National Debate, in which members closely followed the election. What an interesting election to follow between Al Gore

"We have hopes that the Political Science Club will ensure political awareness on campus and help students be involved in political decisions." Stephen Replogle and George Bush! The organization had many debates about the legal issues involved in this year's election as well as the the result of George Bush winning! Also, the Political Science Club helps to promote and create Young Democrats and College Republicans on campus and helps to support thier ideas. They have helped PC students in having the opportunity to attend a speech by Senator John McCain and President George Bush last year.

Seniors Heather Combs and Andrew Ellett discuss the controversial election between Bush and Gore this year.

On Election Night, Political Science majors watch the TV patiently to listen for the winner of the election, despite the fact the winner was announced two months later!

Pi Sigma Alpha

Senior Andrew Ellett expresses his political views to members of Pi Sigma Alpha.

Pi Sigma Alpha is the political science honor society for students who have an interest in political issues and for students who excel in their academics. The purpose of Pi Sigma Alpha is to recognize superior academic achievement and, along with the political science department, provide a better understanding of government and politics. Activities include bringing speakers to campus, organizing debates, and coordinating other functions which promote the study and understanding of politics, government, and public affairs. Pi Sigma Alpha is under the leadership of Seniors Sara Hopper and Kevin Hales, and the faculty advisor is Dr. Chris Grant. Five members of the faculty are also members of the organization.

At 3 am last year, Mary Douglas Neal, Elizabeth McCuen, and Kate McBride celebrate the arrival of Senator John McCain.

Members of Pi Sigma Alpha meet regularly to discuss the latest issues, views, and concerns involving political topics.

Students for Enviromental Education: Quietly Helping the Earth

The purpose of Students for Enviromental Education is to make the campus community aware and responsible for recycling. SEE also wants to make recycling easier and more accessible for the entire community on campus.

SEE was founded at PC in 1990, and currently consists of 20 members. The faculty advisor is Dr. John Inman, the president is Amy Cooper, and the vice president is Susannah Miller. SEE helps the cam-

"SEE has been working extremely hard to push PC's recycling program into the 20th Century. We want to have active recycling in every building." Amy Cooper pus to celebrate Earth Day by informing the students of the day and by providing activities. This year, the organization has bought long lasting recycling bins for can recycling to be placed in each building on campus. This was funded by the Student Finance Committee. The organization has worked extremely hard to implement recycling on PC's campus, and is hoping to see improvement from the students, staff, and faculty.

After weeks of hard work, Amy Cooper proudly delivers can recycling bins to each building and dorm on campus.

Senior Susannah Miller uses a PC truck to haul cans off campus to be recycled.

After a meeting, SEE 2000 Members gather together to show off the new recycling bins for cans.

American Chemical Society

The American Chemical Society's goal is to promote chemistry in primary and secondary schools. ACS also provides an opportunity for interested students to learn more about chemistry through interaction, speakers, and field trips. During National Chemistry Week, the members will be visiting Clinton schools to perform chemistry experiments to students. ACS members also visited the Catawba Nuclear Power Plant this year. The president of ACS is Amy Cooper, and the faculty advisor is Dr. Craig Powell. Amy Cooper states "I am very excited about ACS becoming an organization, and we are trying to promote chemistry to children."

Will Hamilton, Amy Cooper, Cynthia Shands, Carrie Bowers, and Mary Pat Adams enjoy dinner at Dr. Gouge's house.

ACS Members include (L-R) Curtis Wright, Ginny Ballance, Carrie Bowers, Vaughn Carter, Laura Harris, and Amanda Almond.

SAM

The purpose of the Society for the Advancement of Management is to provide an opportunity for the members to increase management skills and expertise through participation in programs and services designed to improve the professional quality of their knowledge, performance, and leadership ability. The president of SAM this year is Robert Coon, Vice President is Blair Sherwood, Secretary is Andrew Gardner, and treasurer is Mary Douglas Neal. The faculty advisor is Norman Scarborough, and the organization includes over 30 members.

Throughout the year, SAM provides students with speakers from area businesses and corporations, and they give presentations on their businesses at the meetings. Also, throughout the year SAM provides business majors with the opportunity to tour several different plants, including BMW, Fuji, Asten Press, and Mita. The members of SAM meet monthly and they have many social events, including a cookout and a pizza party. Senior Mary Douglas Neal states "Sam provides an opportunity for business students to hear guest speakers and visit plants. I enjoy SAM because I have met professionals from across the state, and from them I have learned many things about the business world."

Seniors Mary Douglas Neal and Olivia Oder attend the SAM banquet to hear a speaker lecture about the business world.

Members of SAM meet regularly to discuss business topics, listen to speakers, and travel to area plants for tours.

Quietly Counseling Peers: Peer Connectors

Ever need someone to talk? Ever need some advice? Concerned about issues of campus? Peer Connectors is an organization on campus that provides fellow students the opportunity to talk with trained listeners about issues, concerns, or problems that they may be faced with on PC's campus and in the community. The co-sponsors of Peer Connectors are Mary Douglas Neal and Beth Viamonte. Throughout the year, Peer Connectors sponsor several different hall programs, on topics such as time management, "Natural High" posters and cups are given to freshman, and there is a Peer Connector training camp. Many of the the members of Peer Connectors are psychology majors who are seeking counseling practice or someone who wants to be a better listener in dealing with their friends and their problems.

Junior Kelly Williamson meets with Mary Douglas Hayne to talk about the benefits of Peer Connectors, and to deliver pizza and the Natural Highs poster.

Freshman Belk Residents talk with a partners to learn about time management. Time management is essential to balance work and play.

Palmetto State Teachers Association: Quietly Developing Future Teachers

The purpose of Palmetto State Teachers Association is to provide student membership in a professional organization for pre-service teachers at PC. PSTA's goals are to develop and encourage the practice of high standards of personal and professional conduct among educators. Also, PSTA holds meetings to inform students on education and its benefits.

The president of PSTA is Beth Cooke and the faculty advisor is Dr.

Anita Dutrow. The organization at PC consists of fifty-two members, which is the largest of any university or college in the state. PSTA provided students with a Praxis workshop to prepare them to take a test to certify them as teachers. Also, PSTA provides a mentoring and support system to all education majors.

Finally, members of PSTA travel on many educational field trips throughout the year, and hear many speakers, such as alumni who are first year teachers.

"PSTA is a great way for education majors to become involved on a professional level and to learn about educational opportunities statewide." Beth Cooke Senior Elizabeth McCuen helps students to solve a puzzle in her 5 year old kindergarten practicum class.

Senior Early Childhood majors enjoy relaxing together and spending time outside of class while eating dinner at Dr. McLeod's house in Greenville.

Quietly Recognizing Musical Talent

Delta Omicron

Amy Cooper meets the province director of Delta Omicron at the 2000 International Conference in Athens, GA.

During the freshman activities fair, senior Rachel Reiff encourages freshman Danielle Fernandez to sign up for Delta Omicron.

Delta Omicron is an international musical honor society which consists of members of many talents with an aim to serve the community. The goals of Delta Omicron are to create fellowship through music, strengthen loyalty to the Alma Mater, to develop character and leadership, to encourage the highest possible scholastic achievement, and to manifest musical interest to students at a professional level. Delta Omicron consists of eighteen members. Amy Cooper is the president and Dr. Orval Oleson is the faculty advisor. They won a community and music service award at the international convention last year. Also, Delta Omicron provides its members with piano clinics, and recitals, guest clinicians.

Psi Chi

Interested in learning about people? Interested in learning about psychological disorders of personality development? The Psi Chi Honor Society is an organization that includes psychology majors and minors that have excelled in their academics at Presbyterian College. The organization is under the leadership of Seniors Sara Conner and Rachel Diana, and includes over thirty members. The faculty advisors are Dr. Ann Stidham and Dr. Eric Johnson.

The organization has provided PC students with the opportunity to meet and discuss current events and issues relating to psychology. The organization has also had several social events, which include a picnic at Thornwell and the ever popular event of the hypnosis, in which PC students have been known to act like Madonna or fly away on an airplane. The organization also votes on new members and has two inductions of new members each year. Senior Elizabeth McCuen states "I have enjoyed Psi Chi because it helps me to learn about topics and issues that are not discussed in the classroom, and since I am a psychology minor it has helped me to get to know the members who have majors in psychology."

Junior Rachel Parsons discusses psychological issues with fellow psych majors.

PC students are being hypnotized and are falling asleep—who knows what they will do!

Members of Psi Chi celebrate after inducting new members into the organization.

Quietly Promoting Biology: Beta Beta Beta

Interested in biological research? Need assistance in writing a senior seminar? The purpose of the Beta Beta Beta Biological Honor Society is to promote learning, research, and interest in the biological sciences. Members are inducted during the spring semester, and must maintain high academic achievement. Beta Beta Beta is under the leadership of Seniors Heather Boger and Amanda Townsend. The organization includes over thirty members, and the faculty advisor is Dr. Ron Zimmerman. President Heather Boger states "The reason of the organization is to find common ground with other students who are Biology majors and minors at Presbyterian College."

Members of Beta Beta Beta gather together to eat and discuss biological topics outside of the classroom.

Beta Beta Beta members gather together to induct new members into the organization. New members are voted in and must excel in academics.

Omicron Delta Kappa

The purpose of Omicron Delta Kappa is to recognize individuals who have attained a high standard of leadership in collegiate and community activities, and to encourage them to aspire to higher achievements. Omicron Delta Kappa is under the leadership of Senior Beth Cooke as President, Ben Acton as Vice President, and Meredith Redmond as secretary. The organization includes 13 students, and the faculty advisors are Dr. Brian Beasley and Dr. Peter Hobbie. A special event that Omicron Delta Kappa sponsors is Red Ribbon Week to support and participate in a National Drug Prevention Campaign. Many events are provided, including trips to the local community schools to discourage drugs and underage drinking and activities on Presbyterian College's campus for college students. Senior Meredith Redmond states that "Omicron Delta Kappa encompasses all things that Presbyterian College values: service, leadership, scholarship, and involvement in other campus activities. Omicron Delta Kappa meets once a semester to vote on new members and an induction ceremony is held to welcome the new members into the organization.

Seniors Jay Biber and Ben Acton enjoy socializing and eating during a meeting.

Members of Omicron Delta Kappa discuss goals and activities for next year.

Omicron Delta Kappa members meet twice a semester to decide and vote on new members for the next year.

Quietly Enhancing Math Skills: Mathematical Association of America

Interested in Math? Want to compete in mathematical competitions? The Mathematical Association of America provides math majors, math minors, and other interested students with an opportunity to further their mathematical knowledge beyond the classroom setting. Each year, there is an annual math competition for the entire student body of Presbyterian College sponsored by MAA, and throughout the year there are professional speakers that give lectures on math related careers and topics. The president of MAA is T.J. Ackerly and the vice president is Ginny Balance. T.J. Ackerly states "Although there are few math majors and minors on campus, it is nice to have an organization for us to get together and discuss math related topics."

Senior math major T.J. Ackerly states the next question during the annual math competition for all students.

Members of MAA come together to help each other on math related problems and to discuss topics relating to math.

Presbyterian College Choir

The purpose of the Presbyterian College Choir is to provide students with a choral and artistic experience of the highest quality; and through consequential choral literature which references many cultures, to speak to those who would listen about the meaning and intent of the Christian Faith. The organization is under the leadership of Senior Brie Beall. The faculty advisor is Dr. Porter Stokes, and the organization includes over fifty members. The organization meets three times a week to practice music and to learn about topics relating to choral experiences.

During the year, the Presbyterian College Choir performs several times. On December 2, 2000, they performed a Presbyterian College Christmas: O Wondrous Star, and on December 7, 2000, they performed in the greatly respected candlelight Christmas service in which Christmas songs are sung. They also travel on a Spring Tour and are involved in the celebration of Holy Week. When asked to reflect on her experience with the choir, Sophomore Elizabeth Michael states "The choir is the very embodiment of the Presbyterian College spirit: people of diversity united in the body of harmony."

Members of the Presbyterian College Choir prepare songs to be sung for the annual performance of "O Wondrous Star".

The Presbyterian College Choir sings at First Presbyterian Church during their Spring Choir Tour.

Quietly Promoting Drama: Alpha Psi Omega

Ever been to Harper Center? Ever wondered if any Presbyterian College student would make it to Hollywood? Drama majors spend hours after hours in the Harper Center rehearsing for the latest play, memorizing their lines, and having a great time. Alpha Psi Omega is an honor society for those who have chosen to participate in theater. The organization is under the leadership of Senior Kim McKee, who has been in numerous plays at Presbyterian College.

This year, some Alpha Psi Omega members performed "Fiddler on the Roof." Kim McKee states "I have greatly enjoyed the many plays at PC despite the hard work and the dedication."

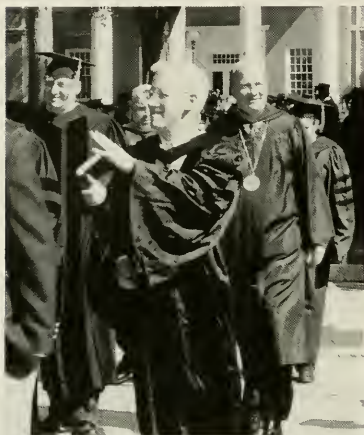

APO's mascot is the woodchuck. Here some members "act out" the mascot!

"Fiddler on the Roof": What a great job these members of the cast did on opening night!

Say cheese! These girls smile for the camera in spite of the heat!

Dr. Griffith greets the 2001 graduates as the academic processional moves forward.

A grin from ear to ear says it all!

Does anybody know what we're doing or how we got here in a few short years?

May 5, 2001, marked a proud moment for each graduate of Presbyterian College. It was a time to celebrate the milestone of a splendid college career and the excitement of a future waiting to be discovered. What would graduation be without Scottish bagpipers, inspiring speakers, and a beautiful sunny day? It was a time to thank family, friends, and professors for trusting in our abilities and bestowing upon us their knowledge and advice. Congratulations Class of 2001! May your lives be rich in love and service!

Dr. Griffith addresses the thousands that gathered on this beautiful day.

Rachel Reiff led us in the singing of the national anthem at the commencement ceremony.

Jean Marie Smith clutches her diploma with pride!

From the Editor...

As this year comes to a close, it is extremely bittersweet to be graduating from Presbyterian College. At PC, we have so many things to be proud of, and I will miss those things even as I become excited about my future.

There are so many people I wish to thank for making this yearbook a reality. First and foremost, I would like to thank the Pac SaC staff for working many and, often, late-night hours in order to meet deadlines. I would also like to extend my gratitude to Dr. Lynne Simpson, our advisor, and to Dr. George Ramsey for providing guidance. Many thanks go to the fine ladies and gentlemen of the Business Office, as well as Melissa Marshall and Dean Nixon for helping me get last year's book in the mail to the 2000 graduates.

On a more personal note, I'd like to thank Susannah Miller, for her contribution of pictures, and Brooke Loder, for her time and help in the fall. I must thank my roommate, Vaughn Carter, for listening to my incessant concerns and complaints concerning this annual.

I want to thank my professors, parents, and friends for molding me into the person I have become and the person I will be. I pray that I have made you as proud as you have made me and thank you for your never-ending encouragement.

Sincerely,

Jane Z. Hous
